

Established in 1916, the Emily Griffith Opportunity School is one of the oldest adult vocational/technical schools in the United States, enrolling up to 15,000 students each year. Offering over 350 courses of study, Emily Griffith prepares students for a broad range of career and trade opportunities.

“Specialty Book’s flexibility and customization provide a much better buying experience for our students, and their creative solutions simplify life for our faculty and staff.

The Specialty staff makes it a point to understand how our school operates and then implement whatever is necessary to meet our needs.”

“Emily Griffith Opportunity School is located in downtown Denver and our campus has no space for an onsite bookstore. For many years, we used a local bookstore and a different online bookstore, but neither provided the service and attention our students needed.

“Since we’ve partnered with Specialty Books, both the school and our students are much better served. In addition to taking care of every detail for us, Specialty’s flexibility and customization provide a much better buying experience for our students. The ordering website has been designed to mirror our school site, and it is organized in a way that makes it easy for our students to shop. For many of our students, ordering texts is their first online shopping experience, and they have found the Specialty site understandable and easy to use.

“In addition, Specialty Books looks for creative solutions that simplify life for our faculty and staff, whether it’s finding a source for an out-of-print book to setting up easy systems for financial aid. The Specialty staff makes it a point to understand how our school operates and then implement whatever is necessary to meet our needs. The high level of personal service we consistently receive makes us feel that we are a highly valued client.”
